Thoughts from our President

On behalf of the Fresno County Legal Professionals Association (FCLPA), I want to thank each of you our longtime members and those just joining us for being part of the legal community.

Our association exists for one simple but powerful reason: connection. In a profession that can often feel fast-paced and isolating, FCLPA is a place where legal professionals come together to support one another, share knowledge, and grow both professionally and personally.

To our current members: your continued involvement, dedication, and willingness to show up for one another is what keeps this organization strong. Your experience, mentorship, and collaboration make a real difference, not only within our association, but across the legal community we serve.

To our new and prospective members: Welcome. You belong here. Whether you are just beginning your legal career or are a seasoned professional, this association offers opportunities to learn, network, lead, and build lasting professional relationships. We encourage you to get involved, ask questions, and take full advantage of what this community has to offer.

As we move forward, our focus remains on education, professional development, and fostering a supportive environment where every member feels valued and empowered.

Together, we will continue to elevate the role of legal professionals and strengthen the impact we have in our workplaces and our community.

Thank you for being part of FCLPA. I look forward to an exciting and successful year ahead together.

Warm regards,
Nicole Pacheco
President/Governor, FCLPA

INNA SHANKAR, ESQ.
FOUNDING SHAREHOLDER

Inna Shankar is a founding Shareholder of Shankar Legal Inc., where she provides strategic advisory and transactional legal services to education sector, private business, and non-profit clients. She also advises on commercial and residential landlord-tenant matters, overseeing the firm's municipal agency work, including eviction defense services through local government contracts. Drawing on more than 13 years of experience in employment, business, and landlord-tenant law, Ms. Shankar works closely with clients to anticipate challenges, resolve conflicts efficiently, and build legal strategies that strengthen their organizations for the future.

For private business and non-profit clients, Ms. Shankar has extensive experience in contract review and drafting, business formation, governance and dissolution, and landlord-tenant law. She also advises on California and federal employment law compliance, including wage and hour matters, and conducts complex workplace investigations.

For education sector clients, Ms. Shankar provides guidance on business office operations, student matters, and Special Education Law compliance. She conducts investigations into Title IX complaints, harassment, discrimination, and bullying for K-12 schools, community colleges, and universities. She drafts school and university policies, procedures, and collective bargaining agreements, and has significant expertise in CalSTRS/CalPERS retirement law.

Trained in trauma-informed investigation techniques and California-specific legal compliance, Ms. Shankar takes a holistic approach to investigations, from initial communications and risk mitigation to final reports and advising on subsequent employment actions.
